

An Expanding Industry

Nearly Every Province In Canada Has Its Own Farm Products

But good food. That's the gist of it. One of Canada's healthiest expanding industries, the growing of foodstuffs, is the department of agriculture.

A Canadian food was among the first products of the country to be shipped to the United States. This year produced 4,387 pounds of milk—17½ pounds of butter fat.

A. MacMillan, Minister of the department. "The blings to Mr. Mary Lockwood, of Cobble Hill, N.S."

There were between 12,000 and 15,000 goats in Canada, pretty well distributed in the north and south. The goat is a slow-growing industry and, like MacMillan, no threat to the dairying industry.

"There's plenty of room for both," said. "They are particularly valuable in the north. You find them dotted about in the north-western part of the province and in some settlements areas in Quebec. The rocky nature of the land and lack of water in the north make it difficult, but goats do well."

Goats are raised particularly in the north-western part of the province. "It's a good thing to have a goat," said the Minister.

A wide variety of industries are connected with the goat. Some European countries produce goat cheese. Goats are fattened for six weeks or two months before being killed. The meat is tender, white and similar in flavor.

A Cackling Goose

Wild Geese Make Friends With A Flock Of Sheep

From Quilichon Beach on Vancouver Island comes a story of a cackling goose which befriended a flock of sheep. According to the local newspaper, the goose was shot by a hunter and taken to the farm of a local farmer.

The farmer, who is a member of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, the goose recently alighted beside the sheep. The goose was shot by a hunter and taken to the farm of a local farmer.

New Alberta Oil Field

Search Carried On For Years Has Met With Success

Discovery of a new Alberta oil field, claiming a search carried on for years, was announced today by the official of Standard Oil of British Columbia, subsidiary of Standard Oil Company.

The Standard company's C.P.R. Prince 261, well located in western Alberta, has been found to be a rich oil field. The well is located in the area of the C.P.R. line, between the towns of Prince and the town of Prince.

Nothing Is Wasted

People Of The British Isles Have Learned To Save

Anyone reading Old Country papers and correspondence, states that the people of the British Isles have learned to save.

It would appear that there is not much waste in the Old Country. The people of the British Isles have learned to save.

It is called over there, as it is in Canada, that the people of the British Isles have learned to save.

A Little Different

Roman soldiers underfoot will manufacture their own underwear. The British soldiers, on the other hand, are different. They make their own underwear.

Admission ticket, well preserved, was found in the house of Old Pompeii.

Canada As Oil Producer

Rhodes Second In British Empire, And Turkey Valley Produces

Due to Turkey Valley, Canada now ranks second in the British Empire as an oil producing country. The survey of world oil fields of 1940 showed that Canada is the second largest oil producer in the world.

Despite the claims of the Polish of fields by Germany, that country's production of 8,000,000 barrels of oil in 1940 was more than half a million barrels less than Canada's 1940 oil yield of 8,045,750 barrels.

In the British Empire, Canada's 1940 oil yield was exceeded by Trinidad and the British West Indies with a yield of 7,500,000 barrels. Canada's yield surpassed the following oil-producing countries in the Empire: Bahrain Island, Bama and British India.

Made Solemn Pledge

Cree Indian From Saskatchewan Pledge To A Soldier

Not with the blood of his forefathers, but by the stout-hearted solemn vow of a soldier in the King's uniform, did the stolid Saskatchewan Cree serving with the Canadian forces in England pledge on behalf of the Cree Indians to the King to fight until death. "For our country and freedom."
